

The Program for Institutions in Care (PICOP) program was created in August 2005, and was originally the Massachusetts Inpatient With a Civil Commitment (M-ICW) program. The program was not subject to national certification or accreditation as of March 31, 2013 as mandated by law. This is all the information you will receive for the public record in the event an individual is the subject of an ongoing civil commitment process. The state does not have an application process, and no accountability up with the licensing department when program is reviewed.

Transparency is a key element of the program, and we are providing this program as being open and clear. Please contact us for any additional information.

Please note that this list is the program and not the PICOP program as the administration of these services is an important part of the safety operation of these services and are operated at various levels for the staff and the hospital operation. Below you will see a list of programs at <http://www.mass.gov/hhs/picop>

The Program for Inpatient Civil Commitment (PICOP) is a program operated by the state of Massachusetts. The program is not subject to national certification or accreditation as of March 31, 2013 as mandated by law.

This program is an administrative part of the state of Massachusetts. The program is not subject to national certification or accreditation as of March 31, 2013 as mandated by law. The program is not subject to national certification or accreditation as of March 31, 2013 as mandated by law.

For more information, please contact the state of Massachusetts.

For more information, please contact the state of Massachusetts.
www.mass.gov/hhs/picop

The Program for Inpatient Civil Commitment (PICOP) is a program operated by the state of Massachusetts. The program is not subject to national certification or accreditation as of March 31, 2013 as mandated by law. The program is not subject to national certification or accreditation as of March 31, 2013 as mandated by law.

This program is an administrative part of the state of Massachusetts. The program is not subject to national certification or accreditation as of March 31, 2013 as mandated by law. The program is not subject to national certification or accreditation as of March 31, 2013 as mandated by law.

For more information, please contact the state of Massachusetts.
www.mass.gov/hhs/picop